

WILSON'S ELECTION PRACTICALLY SURE

DIXON PURE ICE
CO. IS AWARDED
$22,371 DAMAGE

JUDGE K. M. LANDIS RENDERS DECISION AGAINST CE-MENT CO.

DAMAGES FOR SIX YEARS

Federal Judge Gives Decision in the Second Suit of Dixon Companies.

A message from Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis to Attorney Clyde Smith brought the information today that the jurist had found for the Dixon Pure Ice Co. in the recent suit for accounting for damages suffered by the company because of warm water from the Sandusky Cement company's plant preventing ice crops on Rock river for the past six winters, and awarding the ice company the sum of $22-371.66 damages and costs.

Judge Landis heard the evidence in this case at a session of his court held in Dixon during the month of August. When all evidence and arguments were submitted he announced he would take the case under advisement. His decision, rendered Tuesday and wired to the local attorneys, means that the next move, acceptance of the verdict or an appeal to the U.
S. court of appeals, is up to the cement company.

Injunction First Move.
Judge Landis' finding is the first decision in the second suit brought by the ice company against the cement manufacturers, the first being the injunction proceedings which resulted in the cement company being enjoined from allowing warm water to run into the river.

The first case was tried before Judge Landis at a session of his court held here. He granted the injunction and his finding was upheld by the United States court of appeals and the Federal supreme court.

MURDERED MAN WAS NOT GRANDY CITIZEN

JAMES FRENCH IS ALIVE AND WELL—TALKED TO HIS SISTER.

Later developments in the Beloit murder mystery show that the body of the slain man was not that of James French of Grand Detour, as at first believed. The body was not identified and now occupies a nameless grave. Mrs. Lee Mon of Grand Detour, sister of Mr. French, talked to her brother in Rockford Wednesday evening, at which time he explained that the Beloit report had gained circulation when a man who had viewed the body in the morgue had remarked that it looked something like James French of Rockford.

will be a twenty-minute cutting from
"The Littlest Rebel" and will be rendered without pictures.

Dixon people can feel civic pride in DeKalb candidate's followers, ran ahead of his vote of four years ago, the last presidential election. This to discuss the organization of a cow-attending. Mr. Clark of Urbana, who has had a great deal of experience in testing work, will discuss the organ-

LOCAL DEMOCRATS
PLAN CELEBRATION

TO HOLD RATIFICATION OF SOME KIND SOME EVENING
NEXT WEEK.

The democrats of Dixon and vicinity, elated over the victory of President Wilson, as indicated in today's dispatches, are planning a big ratification of the old style some evening next week. The committee is now at work on the plans for the affair and, while the nature of the celebration or the evening on which it will be held have not been decided, it is definitely announced that "there will be something doing."

WILCOX' STATEMENT
New York, Nov. 10.—Chairman Wilcox of the Republican National committee, after a conference with his campaign managers, said the election depends upon the votes of a few close states and that returns thus far announced from most states are unofficial and may be changed by the official count.

"When current reports seemed to be running against Mr.
Wilson Wednesday morning," Wilcox said, "the democratic managers announced their intention to demand a recount in every close state. All we desire is to make sure that the vote is counted as cast. We owe it to the country that an exact and honest count be made."

He added verbally that "it is superhumanly impossible for the preliminary count to conform exactly with the official count."
The statement was submitted to Hughes before it was given out.
Wilcox said, however, the Republican National committee will abide by the decision of the official count unless specific circumstances arose to make further action necessary.

WILSON IS HAPPY.

Throngs lined the river when Wilson, wreathed in smiles, landed from the Mayflower en route father to the second child of his daughter, Mrs. Sayre.

HUGHES IS SILENT.
New York, Nov. 10.—Hughes will not congratulate Wilson today. "Not yet," his secretary said. Hughes, himself, refused to make any comment.

New York, Nov. 10.—The re-election of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency of the United States was made reasonably certain last night when Republican Chairman Rowell conceded California to the democratic candidate.

The 19 electoral votes of Minnesota, New Hampshire and New Mexico were still in doubt, but unless there is a decided overturn in the missing districts Wilson will carry New Mexico, where he is ahead by 1400.
Hughes Leads Minnesota.
In Minnesota, Hughes has a lead

Bulletins From Office Of County Agent

PAWPAW SHORT COURSE

Circular No. 38.
On October 17, 18 and 19 a Short Course in Agriculture was held at Pawpaw. Instructors in soils, livestock and household science gave work each day and during the evenings County Superintendent of Schools L. W. Miller and Prof. A. W. Jamison of Urbana also gave interesting lectures.

During the mornings field work in seed corn selection, soil work and livestock studies were taken up. The afternoons were spent in lectures and discussions by the men and demonstrations of some household science subjects for the women. The evening meetings were joint sessions of men and women. In all there were at the least 1000 people in attendance at this short course.

The expense of the short course—merely the traveling expenses of the speakers and what hall rent, advertising and other incidental expenses there are is taken care of by local subscription. The total expense should not exceed $35.

This Association will be glad to help arrange for a similar short course for your community. Let us hear from you.

Lee Center is to have a three-day short course in agriculture and household science Dec. 6, 7 and 8. Watch for further particulars.

Lee County Soil Survey

A soil survey of Lee county is now being started. This is carried on by the agriculture experiment station. A party of four men go over every section of the land systematically and study soil types and characteristics. Each type of soil is mapped out on a plat carried by each man. By going up and down section and half section and quarter section lines and working back and forth, each farm is gone over very thoroughly and types determined down to ten acres and even smaller areas. When a strip of land is gone over, if the lines of soil types on one man's map do not connect up with the rest of the party, the work must be gone over. Thus if one man was mistaken as to a soil type of a particular area his division line would not tally with the man on his right or left and the work must be repeated. In this way the whole county is gone over, types of soil determined and maps made later these maps are published with discussions of the best and most logical treatment of each type of soil based on the properties of such soil from physical and chemical analysis and the results of such experiments carried out for a number of years on similar soil types. The soil survey party has been working for a few weeks in the east end of the county. It will take all of next season to complete the survey. If you see some men going over your farm with a little plat board and a soil auger do not drive them off, but go out and meet them and get acquainted.

The starting of the soil survey for Lee county is largely due to the influence of the Lee County Soil Improvement association, since a request for the work was entered as soon as the association started work in March.

W. W. GEIGER,

TANKAGE FOR HOGS.

Circular No. 39.
Corn is worth 80c to $1 a bushel, which means $24 to $30 per ton. Corn has 10 per cent protein. Tankage has 60 per cent protein and is worth $50 per ton. Thus you see tankage is twice as rich and costs twice as much. Corn, when fed alone, is not a suitable feed for growing and fattening hogs. Milk, soy beans, alfalfa, clover and rape are all good supplements. Few farmers have enough of these feeds and especially during the winter and spring, Tankage is a staple and economical supplement. Why did 16 or 12 men around Sublette buy a carload of tankage during the summer and repeat with another car on Oct. 25? The same was true with a group of farmers around Lee Center and Amboy, and a third car is to be ordered soon. These men are up to date hog men and know the use of tankage. Tankage is a rich feed and it takes but one part of tankage to 10 to 15 parts of corn for an economical ration for your hogs. Start feeding tankage slowly and after a few days they may be allowed tankage in a soft feeder when given all the corn they want.

The high school boys at Lee Center and Pawpaw have agreed to make self feeders for tankage at cost. Communicate with the high school or this office.

This tankage feeding is not an experiment. The best and most successful feeders would not be without it. Are you feeding 90c corn with no supplement? No wonder some men think there is no money in hogs.

Warning.

Recently, in parts of the county we heard of a patent medicine being sold for hogs, promising to cure all diseases. One party said the "Doctor" would not sell a single bottle, but would sell $30 worth. We have not seen this medicine nor talked with the "Doctor." We do know, however, that such things are being pushed in other counties and widely exposed as a fake and that it is worse than money thrown away. In one county in Illinois four herds were almost entirely lost, and the money and "Doctor" disappeared after the hogs died. The medicine was given on a guarantee of a cure or no pay and administered by the "Doctors" themselves. Don't get caught. Send any agent to this office and we will recommend it or not, as the case may be.

Feed the mixture to your hogs we recommended in Circular 12, May 5 and Circular 31, Sept. 28 and use plenty of air slacked lime around the lots to disinfect and you will not need any patent medicine. We have heard of a few cases of hog cholera in the county but they seem to be under control. If your hogs get sick consult a good veterinary and notify this office.

Illustrated Lecture.

YOU CAN'T FIND ANY DANDRUFF, ADD HAIR STOPS COMING OUT

Save your hair! Make it thick, wavy glossy and beautiful at once

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a week's use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment. A 25-cent bottle will double the beauty of your hair.

CONGRESS HELD BY DEMOCRATS

Both Houses Seem Safe for President's Party.

MARGIN OF 15 IN THE HOUSE

Returns Indicate That Democratic Landslide in West Partly Made Up for Losses in East—Hold Senate by 12 Votes—Rhode Island Is Biggest Upset.

New York, Nov. 10.—Both houses of the next congress are almost certainly Democratic. Returns indicate that the Democrats have surely elected 218 members of the house of representatives. The Republicans have elected 203. Ten districts still are missing with chances favoring the Democrats in at least two of them. The balance of the house is made up of one Socialist, one Democrat-Progressive, one Prohibitionist and one Progressive.

Senate's Democratic.
The United States senate is safely Democratic. The revised indications were that it will be made up as follows:

Democrats, 54; Republicans, 42.
These figures are based upon the apparent success of Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock in Nebraska, where at first he seemed to have been defeated. A. A. Jones, former assistant secretary of the interior in New Mexico; J. B. Kendrick, Democrat, in Wyoming, and Senator Alcee Pomeroy in Ohio.

The biggest surprises of the senatorial contests were the defeat of Senator Lippett for re-election by Peter G. Gerry, Democrat, Rhode Island, which was due to the latter receiving the united support of the labor leaders, and of Senator George Sutherland, Republican, in Utah, where the women voters took things into their own hands.

Deputy Schoenholz was in Hamilton township today on business. Theo. Fuller was in Mendota yesterday on business.

G. O. P. WILL SEEK RECOUNT

"Concede Nothing," Says Attorney Wickersham.

BOTH SIDES HIRE LAWYERS

Chairman Wilcox, Republican National Committee, Issues Statement That His Party Will Not Accept Result—Says He Speaks for Candidate Hughes—McCormick Orders Red Firc.

New York, Nov. 10.—Following a conference between the Republican leaders, it was decided not to concede anything.

Even though California is given to Wilson in the final count, thus giving him a seeming majority in the electoral college, the Republicans will continue their fight for Mr. Hughes. They will force a recount in every close state, it was announced.

Announcement to this effect was made by Chairman Wilcox, following the conference.

Those who took part in the conference were Charles Evans Hughes, George W. Wickersham, Everett Colby and Mr. Wilcox. Afterwards Geo. W. Perkins held a conference with Mr. Hughes.

Wilcox to Demand Recount.

"We will demand a recount in all those states, particularly New Mexico, Minnesota, North Dakota and California. I feel sure that Mr. Hughes has been elected, and I judge from his conversation that Mr. Hughes thinks as I do. We will take every precaution to safeguard our interests. In every close state the vote will be recounted."

The Republicans set in motion their machinery for a recount following the receipt of late information from the doubtful western states.

The legal interests of the Republicans will be handled by two of the ablest corporation lawyers in the United States—former Attorney General George W. Wickersham and Everett Colby.

"Concede Nothing."

After conferring with Mr. Hughes Mr. Wickersham gave out this statement at Republican headquarters:

"I will concede nothing—not a single state. I am convinced that when the votes are counted it will be found Mr. Hughes was elected."

"All Over," McCormick.

Following the report of the change in New Hampshire, Vance McCormick, Democratic national chairman, issued the following statement:

"It is all over. We have them skinned a mile. We surely have cleaned up. I stand by my figures of Wednesday, which gave 288 electoral votes to President Wilson. Nothing since then has caused any change in those figures, according to all of my reports. New Hampshire surely is for Wilson. California surely is for Wilson. California surely is for Wilson. He is running so far ahead that he cannot lose. North Dakota has gone for Wilson. The fight still is on in Minnesota and New Mexico. We expect to carry both."

CHICAGO TO BE DRY IN 1918.

Capture of Four States Stirs Prohibitionists in Illinois.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The movement for nationwide prohibition is "over the hill" and like a mountain torrent will sweep the country within four years, Chicago will vote itself dry and Illinois will join the dominant division of prohibition states in the spring of 1918.

These were predictions uttered with reinforced confidence by prohibition leaders, as a "big drive" was begun to abolish the saloon in this city and commonwealth by means of the ballot box. Tremendous prohibition victories in Tuesday's elections, which added four states to the dry column and sounded the knell of liquor in others, resulted in spurring local foes of rum to instant activity.

Instead of pausing to rejoice over the election results, they set promptly to work on the task of erasing all wet areas from Illinois, with an amount of confidence and courage never before seen in the long-fought crusade.

MACKENSEN IS HURLED BACK

Russo-Romanian Forces Drive Tens 42 Miles in Dobruja.

London, Nov. 10.—Smashing into the Teutonic advance in Dobruja and on the Transylvania front, the Russians re-enforcements seem to have saved Roumania. In the eastern Roumanian province the defenders have pressed back the German-Bulgarian Turkish army commanded by Field Marshal von Mackensen, forty-two miles from Badagach to Topla, twelve miles beyond Hirsova on the Danube, which has been reoccupied.

Berlin admits the retirement of Mackensen's forces, which, it had previously asserted, had driven the Dobruja defenders up to within twenty-five miles of the Russian frontier.

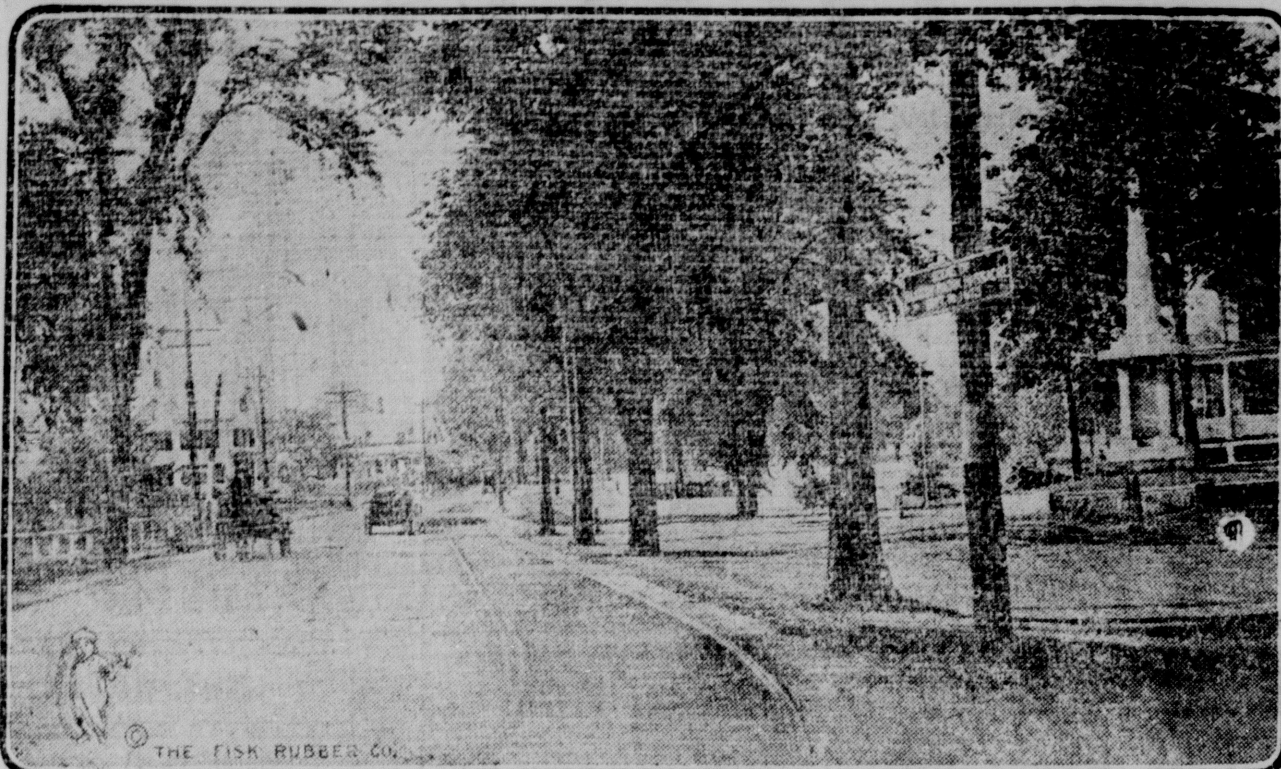

May Contest North Dakota Vote.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 10.—Republicans may demand a recount in North Dakota based on evidence that many valid Republican ballots were thrown out because voters placed an "X" in the straight vote circle and then marked another "X" after Hughes name.

IS TOOK EXAM.

County Superintendent Miller held the quarterly examination today, in which 18 young teachers participated.

HISTORIC SCENES IN OLD NEW ENGLAND

Scene of The Battle at Bloody Brook in Deerfield, Mass.

In passing through South Deerfield, Mass., autoists cross the historic old stream called Bloody Brook, a name derived from the freightful massacre by Indians which occurred there on the 18th of September, 1675.

In those days King Philip, sachem of the Pokanoket tribe of Indians, was on the warpath. He had so terrified the settlers of the Connecticut River Valley that the northernmost towns of Northfield and Deerfield were ordered abandoned.

In abandoning Deerfield the settlers had left large stores of newly harvested grain, and it was in quest of these needed stores that Captain Lathrop, with a picked troop of eighty men, proceeded to Deerfield from the town of Hadley, twenty miles south. The grain had been successfully procured and the party was some six miles out of the settlement of Deerfield when it prepared to ford a stream. The stream was bordered by thick woods, and tradition relates that the men imprudently placed their weapons in the wagons and scattered to gather the wild grapes which abounded. Thus disarmed, they were quickly and completely overwhelmed by the hordes of Indians estimated at 700 strong, by whom they had been ambushed. Of the eighty or more men in Captain Lathrop's command not more than eight escaped alive.

Two other scouting squads of Englishmen which were in the vicinity hurried to the scene upon hearing battle, but could do nothing except drive the Indians away so that the bodies of their comrades might be decently buried.

A monument now marks the scene of this horrible massacre, and the stream where the disaster occurred is known to this day as Bloody Brook.

W. BROOKLYN CELEBRATION

A message from West Brooklyn this morning announced that the democrats are going to hold a big celebration there this evening in celebration of Wilson's election.

Like a "boost" from the boss when you're anxious—they satisfy!

When things are going hard and along comes the boss with a good, cheering word—say, doesn't that satisfy?

That's the very thing Chesterfields do for your smoking—they satisfy!

And yet Chesterfields are MILD!

No cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend. They're the ONLY mild cigarette that satisfies. This blend is an entirely new combination of tobaccos—the biggest new thing in cigarette making in 20 years.

A large amount of rug rags were sewn as well as other sewing for the hostess. An excellent and most appetizing scramble dinner was served at noon. Plans were made during the business session after dinner for the bazaar and chicken supper, which has been set one week later, on November 17th, and will be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Hintz. The supper will be served a la cafeteria and chicken pie will be one of the features on the menu. A brief program followed the business. Wed in California

The wedding of Miss Elsie Schumm, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schumm of this city, and William Dunne of Stockton, California, was solemnized at high noon, Monday, at the home of Mr. Dunne's parents in Stockton. Miss Stella Yohr of Stockton acted as bridesmaid and Joseph Dunne, the brother of the groom, as best man. Miss Mame Dunne, a sister of the groom, played the wedding march. Directly after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dunne left for San Francisco.

Mrs. Dunne has been a trained nurse for a number of years and has spent the past three years in California, where she has been connected with the Stockton State hospital, and more recently on private duty largely at the St. Joseph's Home. When Miss Schumm practiced in Dixon she was considered one of the most efficient of nurses here. Miss Schumm returned to Dixon and spent the summer here at the home of her parents, and at that time her engagement to Mr. Dunne was announced. Many pre-nuptial festivities followed the announcement, and Mrs. Dunne's many friends here will extend heartiest best wishes for her happiness, upon learning of her marriage.

Stockton will continue to be the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dunne. Mr. Dunne is connected with his two brothers in a shoe store in that city, and is one of the city's most active young business men and a man of collegiate training. Their residence will be in a Home apartment building.

Organ Recital

St. Agnes' Guild of St. Luke's church is to give an organ recital at the church on Thursday evening, Nov. 23d, with Mr. John Norton of St. James' Episcopal church, Chicago, as the organist. Mr. Norton is well known in this city. With him he will bring Master William Crockett, boy soprano, one of the most prominent boy soloists in this country at the present time. The program will be announced later. Below is given what the press has to say of Mr. Norton and Master Crockett:

Mr. Norton played with sympathetic power, keen regard for tonal contrasts, and an evident understanding of the interpretative values that never fails to convey the musical message intended by the composer.—Musical Leader, New York and Chicago.

Master Wm. Crockett, the well known boy soprano of St. James church, sang at Ravina Park. A large audience was present which responded to his delightful singing with enthusiastic applause. Many members of the symphony orchestra were among the listeners, and their comments were most complimentary. His voice was exquisite and showed the most careful training.—North Shore Leader, Evanston.

To State Federation

To the State Federation of Women's Clubs which convenes in Champaign and Urbana on Nov. 14th, 15th, and 16th. Mrs. Frederick Grant and Mrs. Mahlon Forsyth go as representatives of the Phidian Art Club and Mrs. W. H. Coppins and Mrs. Charles Her as representatives of the Dixon Woman's Club. These are the only two of the Dixon clubs which have a membership in the state federation. The delegates plan to go Monday. Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Coppins are the regular delegates while Mrs. Forsyth and Mrs. Her go as the presidents of their respective clubs.

People With Keen Eyesight

The best eyesight is possessed by those peoples whose lands are vast and barren, and where obstacles tending to shorten the sight are few. Eskimos will detect a white fox in the snow at a great distance away, while the Arabs of the deserts of Africa have such extreme powers of vision that on the vast plains of the desert they will pick out obstacles invisible to the ordinary eye at ranges from one to ten miles distant. Among civilized people the Norwegians have better eyesight than most, if not all others as they more generally fulfill the necessary conditions.

Are Fishes Mirrors

A scientist says he always thought little fish were protected against the mouths of the big fish chiefly by their markings looking like the stones and reefs in the water, but he now concludes that all shinning, silvery fish are mirrors reflecting the dark bottom of the pond, and it is only when such fish come to the surface that the light shines on them, and they become visible to the big fish that prey on little fish. So long as the little, silvery fish stay close to the bottom they look like mud and stones, only showing their shining silver when they come near the top, and so are soon swallowed down.

NOSES IN JAPAN

The nose plays a very important part in Japan, owing, probably, to a difference in noses constitutes a point the only distinction between one Japanese and another. The nose is the only feature which attracts attention. As there are very few large noses to be found in Japan, a lady with a large nose is regarded as one specially gifted by nature. She is invariably a reigning beauty and the envy of her less favored sisters. In all Japanese pictures in which ladies are portrayed the artists are particularly careful to make the nose of liberal dimensions.

The Art of Handling Men

Sometimes we talk as if getting on the good side of people was rather a selfish operation. Unpopular young folks are very likely to turn up their noses and speak contemptuously of those who have the faculty of making a pleasant impression on strangers. But the art is not necessarily a selfish one, even though self interest urges us to master it. One must be rarely endowed indeed to make a success of it if he has not learned the primary art of understanding men and the ability to persuade them to look at things from his standpoint. But that is not all of it, by any means. A good example loses much of its force unless it is linked to an engaging personality. Good counsel is not likely to be taken, if offered by those we dislike. In order to help those about you, it is necessary that you should know something of human nature and the causes which produce the effect you are after. To be a good physician, a good teacher, a good business man, or a successful philanthropist, you must be something of an adept in the art of handling men.

That Guinea Cry.

City folks visiting country neighbors where guinea fowls are kept have often wondered at the cry of those pretentious creatures. Probably no other member of the feathered tribes emits a cry as exasperating to human listeners as that of the guinea fowl. The average man rarely hears it without secretly longing to throttle the throat from which it came.

Yet it has its uses. Guinea fowls are the policemen of the poultry yard. They serve as guards to give other fowl warning of the approach of danger, whether it be in the form of thieves, dogs, hawks or crows. The cry of the guinea is said to be terrifying to hawks and other predatory birds, and it has prevented many a raid upon tempting flocks of poultry, but the fact remains that it is an affront to the human ear.

The Rocking Chair Tourist

I am a rocking chair tourist. I'd rather read a good book on travel than to go myself. It doesn't take so much time, nor so much money, and if the truth be known, I haven't much of either. It is surprising what a lot of traveling one can do through books and not miss a single day at the office. So let us understand one another in the beginning. There are some who go and some who stay behind, but all are tourists whether the trip is made in a steamer chair or in the old side arm rocker. I can't begin to tell you how many times I've crossed the ocean in the old chair and never once have I been seasick. I have enjoyed home cooking en route, and altogether have had a mighty fine time of it.—Nation Magazine.

Diamond Saw

To provide a means for cutting very hard stone, a saw with diamond teeth has been constructed by a French firm. The stones are common crystals worth about $2.50 a karat, and they are fixed in a steel disk over six feet in diameter, which is mounted on a spindle and revolved by electric power. There are 200 diamonds on the cutting edge, and the speed is 300 revolutions a minute. The saw does the work of cutting and dressing stone for ornamental building purposes at one tenth the cost of hand labor.

Be Honorable

"Honor is a respect and reverence for a high standard in character and conduct. It refuses to be swayed by low motives, and will not stoop to base deeds. In private dealings it is the embodiment of integrity, and in public duties it is patriotism. Honor is more than honesty by as much as generosity is more than justice. Be honorable. Let the young man have a high and fine sense of the rights and proprieties and possess something which is not for sale."

A Blessing

What blessing is of greater value than health? The one who has it is rich indeed and the one who does not possess it would be willing to give for it all the wealth at his command.

The duty of every one who has health is to do all that can be done to preserve it by careful attention to the laws which regulate the intricate machinery of the body. Health is an element necessary for the highest success in the spiritual life, as well as in temporal pursuits.

A Hard Test

The hardest test to which character can be put is to be misunderstood and misjudged. Hard work and sacrifice are nothing in comparison with having our motives questioned, our honesty ascertained, our actions misinterpreted and our words twisted into meanings we never thought of. One who also is misunderstood, keeps brave, hopeful and steadfast has established his claim to true heroism.

Accurate Instruments

For exact punctuality there are few things in the possession of the United States government that approach the big telescope in the Washington observatory, and its partner, the sidereal clock that hangs on the wall near it. By the aid of this telescope and the clock, it is possible to locate a star in the heavens on the exact instant predicted by astronomers a score of years ago and set down in the almanac. A strand of spider web wire across the field of the telescope marks the passage of a star. It is seldom that the telescope and the clock vary as much as a quarter of a second in verifying the astronomical calculations. The clock is one of the most perfect time-keepers in the world today.

Second Article By Prominent Sunday School Worker Written For Lee Co.

EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN
 Article No. 2 by A. F. Hammesfahr, of Chicago

Since the International work covers the North American continent and has as one of its great objects a working force in each State in the Union, we come to the work of Illinois Sunday School Association. Its object is to carry on the general plan of organized Sunday School work and any plan that may be needed by the local conditions. There are 100 counties organized in Illinois with the following departmental officers: Elementary, Secondary, Adult, Teacher Training, Temperance, Missionary, and Home Department. The State employs the following officers: An Acting General Secretary, Elementary Superintendent, Financial Secretary, Teacher Training Secretary and Office help. The field workers come in touch with each County at least once a year at the County Convention. Definite work in the various departments is carried on by correspondence and occasional institutes are held. The State Convention is the main feature of the work, and is held yearly. An Adult Convention, Older Boys' Conference, and Elementary Institutes are annual affairs. During the month of February, Efficiency Conferences are held for County and Township Officers covering the entire State.

All the organized work is supervised by its General Secretary who in turn looks to the different departmental officials to do their work through the above-named channels. One of the helpful plans has been of standardizing the Sunday School. Each denomination has a special Standard which has at least the following ten points:

1. Cradle Roll.
2. Home Department.
3. Organized Bible Classes in Secondary and Adult Divisions.
4. Teacher Training.
5. Graded Organization and Instruction.
6. Missionary Instruction and Offering.
7. Temperance Instruction.
8. Definite Decisions for Christ Urged.
9. Offering for Denominational Sunday School work.
10. Workers' Conference regularly held.

When they comply with these they become a Standard School. Adding on the following three points:

1. Statistical report sent to the County Association.
2. Attendance at the annual County Convention.
3. Offering for International Organized Sunday School Work, qualifies the Sunday School as an International Standard School.

Another helpful plan has been the County Standard:

1. Convention held.
2. Township Conventions held covering entire county.
3. Statistics gathered from every School.
4. Money raised for state work equal to two cents per enrolled member (including Cradle Roll and Home Department.)
5. Delegates at last State Convention.
6. Teacher Training classes in 25 per cent of the schools of the county.
7. Organized classes, adult or secondary in 35 per cent of the schools.
8. Graded Lessons used in at least one department in 40 per cent of the schools.
9. Missionary Activities in 60 per cent of the schools.

We have now twenty counties in the state that measure up to this Standard and many others that are very close and soon will be in the same rank with these. We have mentioned before that Lee County is one of the Counties that are Front Line and comes close to the top.

This Standard, however, can be improved upon and will be from time to time. It is, therefore, important that each school keep in touch with the State Association through the County Organization.

OGLE COUNTY VOTES TUBERCULOSIS FUND

WILL CONSTRUCT SANITARIUM FOR PROPER CARE OF CONSUMPTIVES.

ANNUAL TAX OF THREE MILLS

Rochelle, Nov. 10.—Ogle county is to build and maintain a tuberculosis sanitarium as the result of Tuesday's election. The proposition carried by a good majority. This will give the county board of supervisors power to levy a special tax not to exceed three mills on the dollar annually, which will be known as the "tuberculosis death." This fund can be used to establish and maintain a tuberculosis sanitarium in the county and branches, dispensaries and other auxiliary institutions and make it possible to care for patients properly until well. Owing to the size and wealth of the county it will probably take but a fraction of a mill for the work. The supervisors will always have control of the work, as all other county institutions. It will be free to inhabitants of the county afflicted with tuberculosis, and all reputable physicians will have equal privileges in treating patients. It is estimated that under proper scientific and sanitarium treatment 90 per cent of incipient cases get well, whereas, with home treatment and delay only one in 20 gets well.

OFFICIAL CANVASS NOT COMPLETE

Total of Vote in County Incomplete Today.

The complete returns of the recent election in the county will not be ready until tomorrow. The canvassing board has completed its work, but County Clerk Dimick and his deputies will not complete their work of making totals until some time Saturday morning.

The pupils of the Dixon high school are taking their quarterly examinations and the outcome of these examinations are much more important to them than the result of the recent election.

MINNESOTA GUARDS MAY DECIDE STATE

So Far They Show Large Wilson Preference.

Brownsville, Tex., Nov. 10.—If the votes of the Minnesota national guardsmen now on the border will decide the electoral vote of that state, it is likely that President Wilson will be the gainer.

The Minnesota troops at Llano Grande cast 1,600 votes, according to a telephone message reaching here. These votes were divided 1,200 for Wilson with 400 for Hughes. The men of the Second and Third Minnesota who voted now are on a hike and their vote has not been counted. However, Minnesota officers here say they are certain that a majority of these votes also were for Wilson.

HUGHES INDIANA LEAD CUT.

Later Returns Reduce It to Only 6,070.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—As more complete and revised returns came in Charles E. Hughes' lead grew less than first reported in Indiana. With 172 precincts out of 3,143 in the state missing, Wilson had 317,055 and Hughes 323,125. Hughes' plurality was 6,071.

The Only Tree in Shetland

Up a little lane of Lerwick's one street says the London Globe, there is a garden—at least, it is an enclosed space. In the middle of this space there is a tree. It is not a very tall tree; you could in fact, toss a biscuit over its branches, but still it is a tree—the only tree in Shetland. And Shetland is proud of it. Children who are brought for the first time to see the wonders of one streeted Lerwick are shown this tree. This is not fiction. It is the only tree in Shetland. As there are no trees in Shetland, there are no birds, except of course, the seagulls which you can number by the thousand.

LARGE FARM HOUSE NEAR WOOSUNG BURNS

TWELVE-ROOM RESIDENCE ON McGAFFEY FARM WAS DESTROYED.

CLOTHES AND FURNITURE LOST

The 12-room residence on the S. A. McGaffey farm near Woosung on the Lee and Ogle county road burned to the ground this morning. It is believed the fire started from an overheated furnace, as it evidently originated in the cellar.

The Elmer Knapp family, renters, awoke at about 3 a. m. to hear the crackling and snapping of the structure as the flames ate their way upward and all were able to escape, but were unable to save any clothing or furniture. They passed the remainder of the night at the home of a neighbor, and will live in Woosung until a new house can be erected. Mr. McGaffey plans to build in the spring. The house was valued at $5,000 and the loss was but partially covered by insurance.

U. S. ATTORNEY TO AIR ALLEGED FRAUDS

Claims Illegal Voting, Vote Coercion and Corruption.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne declared that he is in possession of evidence tending to show an elaborate scheme of vote coercion in Chicago on the part of certain employers. He indicated that he would place this evidence before the federal grand jury on Monday.

"No matter who may be found guilty, they will have to go to the penitentiary," said the prosecutor. "Evidence that men and women were compelled by their employers to vote a certain ticket at Tuesday's election has been presented to me. Our own investigations have shown that more money was spent in this election than in any previous election, and we have reason to believe that we have evidence of a big conspiracy."

MAINTAINS HUGHES GAIN.

Two-Thirds of State Indicate Candidate Will Have Over 40,000.

Detroit, Nov. 10.—Late returns increased the plurality of Hughes over Wilson in Michigan. Reports from two-thirds of the voting precincts of the state gave Hughes 208,480 and Wilson 181,017.

The sweeping victory of the Prohibition forces was emphasized by returns. The majority for the statewide prohibition amendment was more than 60,000, and a similar majority has been recorded against the home rule amendment.

United States Senator Charles E. Townsend was returned to office. Albert E. Sleeper for governor and the entire Republican state ticket was elected. Oscar B. Marx, Republican, was re-elected mayor of Detroit.

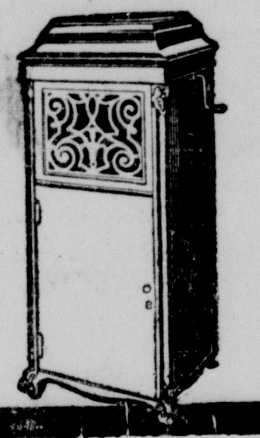

Concedes North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 10.—That President Wilson has carried North Dakota was conceded by William Lemke, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

WOMAN DROPS DEAD IN STERLING STORE

MRS. EMMA GALLESATH VICTIM OF HEART TROUBLE WEDNESDAY.

Sterling, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Emma Gallesath, formerly of Sterling, but of late living with her daughter, Mrs. Fred Billhorn of northern Iowa, fell dead while at the wholesale and retail store of Andrew Gerdes Wednesday at 3:25 p. m.

Mrs. Gallesath came to Sterling on Tuesday to see about the loss of her barn burned last week, which had been rented to Mr. Hillery. She attended to the necessary business and was on her way to the station of the Burlington to take the afternoon train for Rock Island when she stopped in the Gerdes store in a hurry and said she wished some grapes to take with her. The clerk went to wait on her and while outside to get some grapes he heard a fall, and hastening inside found she had fallen to the floor and was unconscious. A doctor was called and she was pronounced dead in a short time.

She was taken at once to the undertaking parlors of Melvin & Kneiser on Third street, where the body was cared for and her friends and relatives sent for.

WILSON IS CHOSEN BY THE WEST

Its Vote Elects the President.

Kansas had sent a thrill of confidence into the Democrats and sent the betting odds down to 9 to 5 on the President. Then the returns from New York, Illinois and Wisconsin started over the wires, and there seemed not a peg on the map of the United States for a Democrat to hang his hopes on.

It was after 4 a. m. the day after election, that Utah, with four electors, took itself out of the certain Republican column and went into the Democratic. Minnesota with ten followed. Then came Idaho with four, Wyoming with four, and Washington with six. Kansas, which had been creeping forward with its ten went plump into the Democratic basket, followed by North Dakota with its vote.

California with its thirteen votes was showing a partiality to the President and at 6 a. m. it, too, had joined its western sisters.

Then it was known that if the Democrats held these gains the election of the President was assured.

He held all but Minnesota, and that state is undecided yet, but leans to Hughes.

The re-election of President Wilson proves that party lines do not cut the figure they did years ago. Supporters of Mr. Hughes in their ante-election forecasts declared that the Republican party was united in its support of their candidate; that at least 70 per cent of the Progressives who encompassed the defeat of Mr. Taft four years ago had returned to the fold. There seemed to be sound basis for this claim when the election returns from Maine and the primary results in New York state were studied.

But, as has often happened before, the political wisecracks evidently did not figure on the personal popularity of the candidate. This personal popularity, political prophets today were declaring, was principally brought about by the fact that the country is at peace, and the voters evidently gave the President credit for it. Another factor that brought about the re-election of Mr. Wilson, it was stated, is the fact that the country is prosperous. Prosperity and peace were two hard factors for Mr. Hughes and his party to overcome.

Wouldn't Swap Horses.

Then there were many voters who, when they went to the polls, apparently decided that it was time to put into practice the old saying that it is unwise to "change horses while crossing a stream." There was a feeling of uncertainty as to what our foreign relations might be at the end of the European war. Evidently they figured this is not the time to make a change in the national administration.

It is too early yet to attempt to analyze the extent of the German or hyphenated vote. That it did not prove as potent as was anticipated, however, is plain from the result of the election. There are persons today who declare that the hyphenated vote proved a handicap rather than a benefit to Mr. Hughes. It is claimed that the statement that Mr. Hughes was the German American candidate drove those who are in sympathy with the allies in the European war to the support of Mr. Wilson.

Labor Record Pleasing.

Another factor that no doubt contributed to the re-election of President Wilson was the labor vote. It will be recalled that at what might be termed the psychological moment President Wilson stepped in and personally assured an eight hour law for the workers who threatened a nation wide tie-up of the railroads of the country. Men who are analyzing the returns today say that Mr. Wilson received powerful aid from the labor element in both parties.

The final election eve survey of the country by the managers of both parties showed that both sides figured that the Progressive vote was of the most vital importance. In the contest four years ago the combined vote of Roosevelt and Taft exceeded that of Mr. Wilson by 1,311,444.

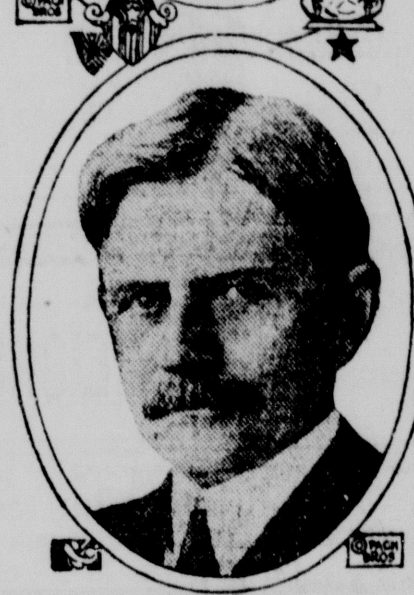

Mr. Wilson's vote was 6,292,019. Taft's 3,484,956 and Roosevelt's 4,119,507. In the campaign just ended, however, there were cross currents that never before had been encountered, problems that never have arisen.

Some of these related to the exact vote value of the Progressive support to Republican and Democrats; of the labor vote to the Democrats; of the Socialist vote to the same party; the effect of the "peace and prosperity" policy and the record of the Wilson administration; of the influence of the Republican criticism of the Mexican and international undertakings of the Democratic controlled government; of the extent of dissatisfaction among northern and western voters with the alleged control of the government by the southern states.

Gardner Wins by Close Shave. St. Louis, Nov. 10.—Frederick D. Gardner of St. Louis apparently was elected governor of Missouri by about 5,000 plurality, and the rest of the Democratic state ticket, except State Auditor Gordon, candidate for re-election, seems to have been elected with him, according to incomplete returns.

BOOST NEWSPAPER PRICES. Inland Daily Press Members Say Advance Is Necessary To Meet the Increased Cost.

Increases in prices of advertising and subscription will be made by members of the Inland Daily Press association to meet advances in the cost of overhead charges, according to members of the organization at a special meeting at the Hotel LaSalle yesterday.

"We have already increased the prices of advertising and subscriptions," said Will V. Tufford of Clinton, Ia., secretary of the association, "and may have to make a further increase. The cost of print paper and increased overhead charges compel these advances."

BAD COLD? HEADACHY AND NOSE STUFFED

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends Colds and gripe in a few hours.

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every three hours until you have taken three doses, then all gripe misery goes and your cold will be broken. It promptly opens your closed-up nostrils and the air passages of the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.
Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

INCREASING SUBSCRIPTION PRICE.

Farm Life, we believe, is the first of the national monthlies to yield to the demand of the time and increase its subscription price. The announcement is made in the November number, and the new rate becomes effective Feb. 1—the increase being from 25 to 50 cents a year. The paper frankly explains to its readers that the value of paper and ink have been about doubled in value and says "The inescapable burden of this increased manufacturing cost must be borne by somebody. It would be as hard for us to continue publishing a 25 cent paper at present prices of material as it would be for you to feed dollar corn to 5 cent hogs. We have already raised our advertising rates. But we cannot ask the advertiser to bear the entire burden. The subscriber must pay more. We believe the fair minded readers of Farm Life will be willing to pay more."

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.
Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

TAKE "CASCARETS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS AND CONSTIPATED

Best for liver and bowels, bad breath, bad colds, sour stomach

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

DEAN'S ENDORSEMENT

C. F. Curtiss, dean Iowa State College, in speaking of the Chicago Stock Show, which will be held from Dec. 2 to 9, made the following statement: "There has been something of vital importance lacking in the live stock industry of the United States since 1913. Nothing can take the place of the International Live Stock Exposition. The end of the season without an International seems like a great drama with the principal character omitted. The international will be of unusual interest and of special service and value to the live stock interests this season. Never before in the history of American agriculture have the live stock interests occupied a position of such commanding importance and general interest as they do today. The International Live Stock Exposition is the culminating event of supreme importance in the animal husbandry affairs of North America."

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Lett of Franklin Grove were Dixon shoppers Thursday.

310 Morton Street

Young Dr. Anstruther stood six feet two in his stocking feet. At college he had been accounted one of the best athletes Princeton had ever produced and from that alone it may be readily inferred that Anstruther was not the man to be easily stirred, especially by anonymous letters.

It was on a mild November day that the doctor received the first. It was addressed in a scrawling hand, evidently disguised.

"Do not go to 310 Morton street under any consideration. This is the advice of a sincere well wisher."

Anstruther tossed it into the waste basket and in a few minutes had forgotten its existence. A day or so later another met with a similar fate; but when the third arrived the young physician was plainly annoyed.

"Now what on earth—" he began impatiently, and then again read the note, which was written in the same scrawling hand.

"Under no consideration go to 310 Morton street. Your practice is not all you have imagined it would be."

"Hang it!" growled the doctor. "That's true enough."

The note was signed: "One who takes interest enough in you to warn you."

The doctor was thoroughly exasperated.

"Interest, be hanged!" he growled. "Whoever you are, you're a consummate coward!"

With which he tossed the note in the wastepaper basket, and 10 minutes later was looking up Morton street in the Alleghany directory.

He found it led off one of the main thoroughfares, down by the river. A rather unsavory locality, he reflected, and one to which he was nowise likely to be summoned. Why, then, should his "well wisher" warn him against it?

A week went past. Then one morning a letter in the familiar hand appeared. At first Anstruther was inclined to throw it into the fire, unopened. Curiosity, however, prevailed and he broke the seal. The letter ran:

"Let me warn you about 310 Morton street. You may, or may not, have been summoned there. You may possibly be unaware of its existence. At any rate do not go there. These notes, be assured, are for your own good, as is the advice they humbly offer. Your well wisher."

"Now hang the cowardly brute!" the doctor thundered. "If I only knew where to lay my hands on this villain 'well wisher'— He smote his desk a blow that made it creak."

Yet every letter that came, Anstruther opened and read, and afterward confessed himself a weak fool. During the week he had no less than 10 letters in the same handwriting, and all to the same effect. The affair began to worry him.

It happened that one afternoon a professional call took him across the Alleghany and down to the vicinity of the river, and as he came away it occurred to him to go out of his route a little and have a look at 310 Morton street. He found it easily enough.

"So that's the enemy," he said, as he stood on the opposite curb. "Seedy hole enough—probably a river sailors' holding house. Doesn't look unusually dangerous. By Jove! I've half a mind to go over and ring the bell."

Without further hesitation he mounted the steps of 310 and pulled the bell. In a few seconds he stood there waiting, he began to wonder what he should offer as an excuse for his visit. For a fraction of a minute he saw possibilities of an awkward situation. These were dispelled when a little man with gray hair and beard opened the door and bowed low.

"Dr. Anstruther, I believe," he said.

"Will you step in?"

The door closed behind them, and Anstruther found himself in a large, bare hall, dimly lighted from the faint light above his head.

"Will you kindly step this way?" said the gray haired man. And he ushered Anstruther into a costly furnished room.

"Well?" said Anstruther. His host stood before the fire, his gray eyes scrutinizing the doctor's face.

"Dr. Anstruther," he said at length, "you have been somewhat annoyed of late by the receipt of anonymous letters. I apologize for sending them."

"You?" said the doctor, incredulously.

"Yes, it was I. You see, I am not the sort of a man who accepts people on trust. To me a man is of no use until he has proved himself a man of nerve and a gentleman. Now, to business. You have heard perhaps, of Maxwell's menagerie?"

"Of course. Everyone's heard of Maxwell's." The little man drew himself up proudly.

"Sir," he said, "I am Maximilian Maxwell, the proprietor of that colossal enterprise."

"Delighted to make your acquaintance," smiled Anstruther, "but I really do not see—"

"No, of course you wouldn't. But you see, Dr. Anstruther, my position is this: In the gigantic enterprise I have just named there are, all told, some 200 persons employed. They have been gathered, Dr. Anstruther, from every corner of the earth and are of every breed and color. For instance, some 80 of them are pure bred Indians."

Calling Cards

For a renewal of engraved calling cards bring your plate to the B. F. Shaw Printing Co., Dixon, Ill.

"Don't bother to go into details," interrupted Anstruther. "I saw your show only a week or two back. But—"

The little man held out his hand.

"And you are delighted with it, doctor, I am sure. Shake hands. Well, in a collection of so many souls, who have to perform, no matter what the weather may be, or they get their 'walking ticket' you will readily understand that there is a good deal of illness from time to time."

"I'm!" said Anstruther, the light beginning to dawn upon him. "Well?"

"Well, then, Indians, Dr. Anstruther, are as yet only half civilized; and as to the Dagoes and the wonderful Convoluted Chinese Troupe, they ain't civilized at all. All the same, they want doctoring when they're ill, but they want a man of nerve to deal with 'em."

"I won't deny it, there are times when they get sort of playful and inclined to bite or dig their best friends with razors, just to show there's no ill-feeling. They want a doctor who is afraid of nothing on this earth to deal with 'em, and I should say the way I've tried your nerve up to now is enough to show that you're the man."

"They told me down at the hospital, where I got your address, that your practice wasn't exactly a gold mine, so I've made up my mind to offer you the post of medical magnate to Maximilian Maxwell's menagerie. It isn't one doctor in a hundred would have chanced everything and come here to see for himself what was up after all those horrible warnings I sent you. The pay's $2,500 a year and all found, and extra when you attend the president manager. Will you take it and come along with us?"

"You won't expect me to treat the magnificent African lion when he contracts bronchitis, or lance the Bengal tiger's gumballs?" he asked.

"Dr. Anstruther, Maxwell's menagerie carries its own veterinary surgeon," said the little man stiffly. "You'd have to do nothing against the etiquette of your profession, which I respect and honor."

"And you will not include that illuminating description of myself as medical magnate, etc., on your program?"

"Not if you'd rather not, though it's a pity to waste a good line like that. Still, consider it unprinted."

"Then I'm your man!"

Half an hour later it was the doctor's turn to send an anonymous message. It was in the form of a telegram, and it was addressed to Miss Sylvia Wentworth, No. Euclid avenue, Cleveland, O., and it read: "Maxwell's Menagerie—for ever. Those—Well—bells—shall—soon—ring—out."

Saving Money.

"I am not bugs over charity," insisted Mrs. Osher, in reply to her husband's accusation. "A yearly contribution to the Boodler's Home is not very extravagant."

"All right," said Osher. "Go to it! But I know where it will end. I have seen many a sensible family who thought they were doing no harm when they blew in a little money on charity, yet become slaves to the habit. I expect to come home most any time and find that you have adopted an Eskimo or something."

"Yes, Eskimo! I know a family who came to just that thru their charitable habits. When they heard of a little Eskimo whose parents had been killed in a tornado, they adopted him, and how do I know but what I may come home some day and find one sitting up here?"

"Eskimos are all right and they ought to be adopted. There is no doubt about that. There is nothing like an Eskimo for being deserving and worthy and all that. Why, I could praise Eskimos to the sky, and right there is the idea to get hold of my dear. Be extravagant with your praises and economical with your money."

"Now there's Smoothy. He belongs to the Boosters' Brotherhood, of which I am a member also. The other day a committee came to us, and said that the city was going to entertain the Order of Useless Unks, and wanted to know how much we would give toward the entertainment. I jumped up and said that, as the advantages of having the Useless Unks visit us was apparent enough, there was no need of explanation, and I moved that we subscribe $50 to the fund which was being amassed for their entertainment. Then I sat down."

"It was time I was sitting down. If we had subscribed that amount it would have cost every single member of our society at least seventy-five cents. But I didn't see any way out of it."

"But such was not the case with Smoothy. When he saw that seventy-five cents sliding away from him he jumped up like a belhop and grasped the floor. When he got it he started in to praise the Useless Unks. He praised them up and down and across and diagonally. He praised them thoroughly, and then put on another coat and touched up the edges."

"He was eloquent all right. He was talking for seventy-five cents. He got the idea into us listeners that he was the only real friend the Unks had, and then he proposed—to subscribe the money? I should say not. He told them we would appoint a committee who would investigate and arrive at a conclusion as to what would be the proper amount to contribute to so worthy a cause."

"So be extravagant in your praise of all good things and save your money. That's the idea."

TOO DANGEROUS TO OVERLOOK

DIXON PEOPLE WILL DO WELL TO HEED THE WARNING

To have good health, the digestion, heart, lungs and kidneys must work perfectly. When there is any thing wrong with the digestion, heart or lungs, a very noticeable pain gives prompt warning. Kidney trouble is more easily overlooked, however, and too often gains a long start. But kidney trouble does give early signs, and backache, headache, dizzy spells, rheumatic pains, too frequent, scanty or painful urination should not be neglected. When these warnings appear, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the reliable, success, strongly recommended kidney remedy. Assist the medicine by taking things easier, reducing the diet and the use of liquors. A severe attack of kidney disease may be avoided. Doan's Kidney Pills have won the grateful praise of Dixon people. Read this Dixon resident's endorsement.

Mrs. J. L. Fine, 1006 Peoria Ave., Dixon, says: "I have suffered for years from kidney trouble. My back ached and pained so severely that I had to stay in bed. I had headaches and dizzy spells and specks appeared before my eyes. My wrists and ankles also swelled. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug store and they helped me. They have never failed to give satisfactory results."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Fine had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Marrying Olga

"I'm in a bit of a fix, old man, and I want your advice," said Grayson, as he settled himself in Bobbin's easy chair, and placed his feet on Bobbin's fender.

"Fire away then," said Bobbin. "Have a cigar?"

"Thanks. Don't mind if I do. Bobbin have you ever been in love?"

"Yes," said Bobbin indifferently. Grayson's confidences always began that way.

"Then you'll understand my feelings. Bobbin, old boy, I'm in love."

"You generally are," said Bobbin. "I mean it this time, though. You see she's quite different from the rest."

"Oh!"

"Yes, I tell you that girl's a ripper. She's awfully fond of me."

"The she is different," murmured Bobbin.

"What are you muttering to yourself?"

"I'm wondering where your difficulty comes in. If you're fond of her, and she's fond of you, why don't you marry her?"

"I was just coming to that. You see she—she's not exactly my equal—socially, you know, and—"

"Good heavens! You don't mean Pansy Blossom of the Inanity?"

"Don't be an idiot! Of course not. She's a—governess. Teaches in a school, I believe. Of course, a man has to consider his—er—position, and so—why, what are you looking so black about?"

"Nothing. Only I fail to see where the lady's social inferiority comes in." Bobbin was becoming interested at last.

Grayson looked pleased.

"Do you mean to say," he asked, "that, supposing you were in my position, you would marry her?"

"Certainly—always providing she was willing to have me."

"My people will make a fuss, of course."

"Why should they?"

"Well, after all a fellow with ten thousand a year," said Grayson, with gentle tolerance, "might look for something a bit higher, perhaps, than a school teacher."

Dobbin laughed. If there was contempt in his laugh, Grayson altogether failed to detect it.

"The girl you say you love is a lady, isn't she?"

"My dear fellow, how can you ask! Olga's a perfect—"

"Olga, did you say?" Dobbin's interest now was unmistakable.

"Yes, Olga Martin, of course. Who else did you think I was speaking of?"

"You never told me her name, you know. I congratulate you on your choice, Grayson. Did you say she was fond of you?"

"Well—er—of course, I—there's nothing definite."

"She hasn't told you so, then?"

"Not exactly—at least, not in so many words," retorted Grayson with a modest blush. "I haven't asked her, you know. But—well—hang it all, you know, there are other ways of showing admiration besides words."

"You think a girl can do that?"

"Yes, of course; that is, sometimes—in some cases."

"In yours, for instance?"

Grayson nodded.

There was silence for a moment.

"Look here, Grayson," began Dobbin suddenly, "I ought to tell you—"

"I know what you're going to say," interrupted the other. "You think I'm a conceited fool, don't you? You think she doesn't care for me? I tell you, she—"

"Grayson you're mistaken."

"Of course, I might have known you would say that!" cried Grayson, in deeply offended tones. "You can't understand a girl's falling in love with me, I suppose?"

"It isn't that at all," returned Dobbin. "I haven't the slightest doubt there are plenty of girls who would marry you and your ten thousand a year; but not this particular girl."

"And why not, I'd like to know?" exclaimed Grayson hotly. "I tell you she loves me. Why, the very way she—"

"Well?"

"The way she—looks at me, and—and all that sort of thing," Grayson ended a trifle sheepishly.

"You've no right to say that," retorted Dobbin angrily. Dobbin's calm indifference had completely disappeared. "You've no right to go about telling people Miss Martin is in love with you when—when you're not engaged to her."

Grayson sprang to his feet. "Well, soon remedy that!" he exclaimed excitedly seizing his hat.

"What are you going to do?" asked Dobbin.

"I'm going to propose to Olga at once!" cried Grayson, rushing to the door.

"Stop you fool!" shouted Dobbin. But the other was already half way down the stairs.

"Grayson, listen to me! Don't be an ass!"

Dobbin's own front door was slammed in Bobbin's face.

Olga Martin opened her brown eye in amazement. "Oh, Mr. Grayson, I never dreamed of this," she said.

"I suppose it is a little unexpected," murmured Grayson.

"I thought you had guessed my secret," she continued, with a charming blush.

Look on the little yellow tag and see if your Telegraph is paid in advance. Subscriptions from now on must positively be paid in advance.

"Perhaps—perhaps I have," returned Grayson shyly.

Miss Martin looked surprised. "What do you mean?" she asked. "I don't understand you."

"But I understand you," he replied, seizing her hand. "Miss Martin—Olga—don't be afraid. Dearest, you shall be my wife."

Olga began to feel alarmed. "You can't understand," she said quickly, withdrawing her hand. "I can't marry you; it's impossible."

"Nothing is impossible to those who love. Oh, I know what you are going to say. My wealth, my position—"

"Mr. Grayson," interrupted Olga desperately, "I don't know what you're talking about."

"Dearest, I appreciate your scruples," he went on, not heeding her remonstrance. "I realize how you must feel about it. You are afraid of what people will think—"

"Mr. Grayson, this extraordinary mistake—"

"Let them think what they like. Let them say what they like! What does it matter so long as we love each other?"

Olga was laughing hysterically now. "Let them say you married me for my money!" cried Grayson. "I know better. I know that you love me for myself alone!"

Olga had hidden her face in her hands. She was shaking convulsively.

"Olga, dearest, you are crying," said Grayson. "Forgive me! You are nervous, overwrought. I ought to have prepared you for this. The sudden joy—"

He stopped abruptly at sight of Olga's face.

She had risen from her chair, and stood confronting him, with eyes overrunning with laughter, tears—of laughter streaming down her cheeks.

"For mercy's sake stop!" she gasped. "You're killing me! I—I really can't bear it."

A fresh outburst of merriment choked her utterance.

It was now Grayson's turn to look amazed and puzzled.

"Mr. Grayson," said Olga, making a desperate effort to recover her composure, and looking preternaturally solemn in consequence. "Mr. Grayson, you have made a foolish and quite unwarrantable mistake. I am not in love with you, and your wealth and position are matters of supreme indifference to me."

For a moment he gazed at her, open-mouthed.

"You—you refuse me?" he said at last, in a choking voice.

"I'm afraid I must," replied Olga demurely.

"Then I have been deceived!"

"You mean you have deceived yourself?" asked Olga, with suspicious sweetness. "You must admit, Mr. Grayson, that I have never given you the slightest cause for the remarkable delusion—"

"It's incredible, incredible!" cried Grayson.

To do him justice, he was hardly conscious of what he was saying.

"Incredible that I don't want to marry you, you mean?" said Olga. "I'm sorry you are so hard to convince, Mr. Grayson. Shall you be convinced if I tell you I want to marry some one else?"

"In fact," she added, turning very red, "I am engaged to be married. For private reasons I wished to keep the engagement secret for a little while, and Jack consented. But now you have forced me to speak, and I don't think he will be sorry. I believe you know Jack Dobbin, Mr. Grayson?"

Grayson waited to hear no more. Muttering an incoherent farewell, he fled.

He and Dobbin seldom meet now. Their relations are a trifle strained, and it is doubtful if Dobbin will ever be quite forgiven—By Frederick Townsend.

Guessing the Proverb

The kindly old squire was giving a little treat to the village school children. After tea he stepped on to the platform and announced with a beaming smile:

"Now, I am going to perform certain actions and you must guess what proverb they represent. The boy or girl who succeeds first will receive a quarter."

That did it. Instantly every eye was fixed on him.

First of all the old gentleman lay down on the platform. Then one man came forward and tried in vain to lift him. Two others came to his aid and between them they raised the squire, who was rather portly.

The actions were meant to represent the motto "Union is strength." When they had finished the squire stepped forward and asked if any child had solved the puzzle.

At once a grubby hand shot up and an eager voice squeaked:

"Let sleeping dogs lie."

All Over

"No more shall I hear his footsteps on yonder walk just as the clock strikes eight."

"Gracious, Jeanette!"

"And the old parlor light will never burn low for him again."

"You don't mean it?"

"I do; and furthermore, he will never sit on the sofa three nights a week and call me pet names, as he has been going for two years."

"I am astonished!"

"And tonight I am going to burn all the old love letters in my chest of drawers."

"But why? Are you going to discard him?"

"Discard him! Why, you goose, I am going to marry him!"
